

CONTENTS

Preface xi

Acknowledgements xv

01 This changes everything 1

The breadth and depth of datafication 4

What is data? 6

Defining big data 7

Qualities of big data 8

This book 11

Notes 13

PART ONE Current thinking 15

02 Is there a view from nowhere? 17

Who are you talking to? 17

Sources of bias in samples 18

The upsides of sampling 19

Bigger samples are not always better 20

Big data and sampling 20

Concluding thoughts 27

Notes 27

03 Choose your weapons 29

The perils of vanity metrics 30

Thinking about thinking: defining the questions 32

Frameworks to help select metrics 34

Tracking your metrics 40

From good data to good decisions 43
Concluding thoughts 44
Notes 45

04 Perils and pitfalls 47

Dangers of reading data: the pitfalls of correlations 48
Dangers of reading data: the frailties of human judgement 49
The pitfalls of storytelling 51
Mixing up narrative and causality 52
Is theory important? 54
Concluding thoughts 59
Notes 60

05 The power of prediction 63

The growth of data available for prediction 64
How good is our ability to predict? 66
Understanding the limitations of prediction 67
Why some things are easier to predict than other: complex vs simple systems 68
The influence of social effects on system complexity 70
Building models to make predictions 71
Learning to live with uncertainty: the strategy paradox 73
Concluding thoughts 74
Notes 75

06 The advertisers' dilemma 79

Online advertising metrics 81
Advertising fraud 81
Psychology of online advertising. 84
Concluding thoughts 89
Notes 89

PART TWO Smart thinking 91

07 Reading minds 93

- The value of linking data sets 93
- Knowing your customers 95
- Understanding who we are from our digital exhaust 96
- New dimensions 99
- The evolution of segmentation 99
- Concluding thoughts 102
- Notes 102

08 The ties that bind 105

- Why making choices can be so difficult 106
- Simplifying decision-making 108
- The role of influence and ‘influencers’ 109
- Identifying network effects 111
- The implications of networks for marketing 112
- Exploring the importance of social relationships 114
- Concluding thoughts 115
- Notes 116

09 Culture shift 119

- Seeing the world in new ways 119
- Deconstructing cultural trends 122
- Exploring the lifecycle of ideas through cultural analytics 123
- From verbal to visual: the importance of images 124
- Analysing cultural trends from images 128
- Concluding thoughts 130
- Notes 131

10 Bright ideas 133

- So what do we need to do? 134
- Centralization vs decentralization 134

Developing organization-wide networks of experts	137
Using external networks	139
Over-ambition?	142
Nurturing ideas	143
Concluding thoughts	144
Notes	144

PART THREE Consumer thinking 147

11 Off limits? 149

How people think about data sharing	150
Limits to data-mediated relationships	151
A model for thinking about data-mediated relationships	154
Overstepping data-based relationships	156
Looking beyond the data	159
Concluding thoughts	160
Notes	161

12 Getting personal 165

History of self-tracking	166
A changing personal data landscape	167
The relationship between data ownership and empowerment	169
The pitfalls of personal analytics	170
Potential solutions for empowerment	173
Concluding thoughts	177
Notes	178

13 Privacy paradox 181

Teenagers and privacy	182
The pros and cons of data disclosure	183
The behavioural economics of privacy	185
Brand challenges	187
Trust frameworks and transparency	189

The trend towards transparency	191
But does transparency work?	192
So what should brands do?	193
Concluding thoughts	194
Notes	195

Final thoughts 197

Index 205

COPYRIGHT MATERIAL
NOT FOR REPRODUCTION
PUBLISHED BY KOGAN PAGE