

CONTENTS

About the author ix

Introduction 1

01 Design values: design and the organization 9

Introduction 9

The value of design: an invisible resource 10

Quantifying the benefits of design 14

Evaluating design within the company 17

The DMI Value Scorecard 20

The UK Design Council 'Double Diamond' design process model 22

Design tools for inspiration and innovation 25

Summary 33

Chapter review 34

References 36

Further reading 37

Web-based resources 37

02 Design management in action: case studies 39

Introduction 39

Case studies 41

Discussion 53

'Re-connecting' with your customers to secure competitive advantage 54

Conclusion 55

Chapter review 56

Further reading 58

Web-based resources 58

03 Design horizons: fluid strategies for success 61

Introduction 61

Designers as strategists – heroes or villains? 65

Design and business – it's all about strategic alignment 66

Design and business – it's all about connecting top to bottom 69

Design and business – it's all about connecting inside to outside 70

Dimensions of design strategy 72

Design and marketing – crossing boundaries 75

Design and marketing – the internal organizational context 76

Design and marketing – the external environmental context 77

Design and new product development (NPD) 80

Summary 87

Chapter review 88

References 90

Further reading 91

Web-based resources 91

04 Design strategies in action: case studies 93

Introduction 93

Case studies 94

Discussion 107

Chapter review 108

Further reading 110

Web-based resources 111

05 Design vision: a national asset 113

Introduction 113

A brief overview of national design investment 114

National design support 117

Creative cities – design 120

Creating a national asset for economic advantage 122

Creativity, design and innovation 124

Design and branding: values made visible 125

Branding: from spaces to places 129

Service design: making a big difference in a small city 130

Contributed by Professor Mike Press

Chapter review 135
References 138
Further reading 139
Web-based resources 140

06 Design as a possible instrument for growth and innovation:
Mexico case study 141

Contributed by Dr Beatriz Itzel Cruz Megchun

Introduction 141
The Mexican context 142
Competitiveness 144
Innovation 146
Design: education and industry 150
Design in the industry 158
Conclusions 164
Biography 165
Chapter review 165
References 166
Further reading 168
Web-based resources 169

07 Design futures: design as an enabler for change 171

Introduction 171
Design and technological change 172
Demographic change: Millennials versus Grey Pound? 174
Consumer change: rise of the ethical consumer 176
Chapter review 186
References 189
Further reading 190
Web-based resources 190

08 Looking ahead and discussions on the future of design management 193

Introduction 193
Flexibility and adaptability: future-proofing change 194
Design and healthcare 196
The future of cities – a design agenda 209

Chapter review	221
References	223
Web-based resources	226

Conclusion 229

Glossary 233

Index 239