

CONTENTS

About the author x

Preface xi

Acknowledgements xvii

Introduction: Sales enablement from a marketer's perspective 1

01 Sales enablement, Leonardo da Vinci and the Industrial Revolution 17

Then came engines... powered by steam 19

Did we need sales enablement to sell the steam engine? 20

Selling became complicated after the Industrial Revolution 21

Fast forward to the computer era 23

Sales enablement is ready for prime time 24

Notes 27

02 Twelve sales trends that matter 28

The sales world is changing rapidly 29

From trends to solutions: start with why? 30

Key trends that shape the sales profession 30

The benefits of understanding trends 41

Next steps after identifying initiatives 42

Salespeople need to be more than salespeople 43

Notes 44

03 The dilemma for marketing as a sales enablement function 45

Marketing is woven into the solutions of future trends 46

Constant friction between sales and marketing 46

Find commonalities in misalignment 52

Focus on joint priorities 56

Establish a service level agreement with clear metrics 59

Marketing and sales working to improve the lead process 62

Solicit sales feedback and comments 65

It's a great deal of work to support sales 66

Notes 67

- 04 Branding and messaging also apply to sales 68
Consistency is key 69
The catalyst for consistent brand and messaging 71
Brand guide 72
Messaging framework 75
Other types of messaging 82
Different journey, consistent messaging 84
Consistency does not mean rigidity 84
The power of branding and messaging to sales 84
Notes 86
- 05 Key sales enablement ingredients: Training, content and coaching 87
Sales training 88
Content 96
Coaching 99
Integrate training, content and coaching 102
Notes 105
- 06 All marketing leads to sales 107
Marketing is no longer just marketing 108
Partner marketing or co-marketing 110
Channel partner marketing 112
Email marketing 114
E-commerce 118
Affiliate marketing 120
Loyalty programmes 122
Programmatic and re-targeting ads 124
Social media marketing 127
Marketing programmes as your sales tool 128
Integrated marketing 129
Notes 131
- 07 Design and user experience enhance sales success 133
Quantify ROI of design and user experience 134
The role of user experience in assisting sales 135
Incorporating interactive content into sales processes and training 136
Including sales messages within SaaS-based products or company apps 140

Sourcing user-friendly sales enablement tools 143
Creating intuitive and buyer-focused marketing communications 147
Notes 150

08 When it's time to build your sales enablement team 152

It's about what you want to accomplish 153
Where should sales enablement reside? 158
Talent and skillsets 159
Supporting sales enablement across regions 164
Cross-region sales enablement 169
The sales enablement team structure is fluid 170
Notes 171

09 It's complicated: The blessings and curses of technology 172

Select tools at different stages of the sales process 176
Helpful hints 177
Creating customers insights through descriptive and predictive analytics 180
Discovering relevant customers and predicting their moves via AI 183
Humans vs human-like machines 187
Balancing technology and human judgement 188
Notes 189

10 Action. Action. Action. 191

What can we change now? 193
How can we improve? 196
What can we add? 199
Know the knowns 200
Beware of the unknowns 200
Manage what you can change 201
Actions advance actions 201
Notes 202

Index 203