

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements viii

PART I Context and framework 1

01 Compelling case for building change capabilities 3

- Impact on organizations 4
- How organizational life changed 6
- The evolving idea of enterprise change management 10
- Why readers should continue reading 11
- Notes 13

02 Change capability building 15

- Introduction 15
- Agility is critical in today's environment 16
- What is enterprise change management? 18
- Deploying ECM 24
- How digital technology can accelerate ECM 27
- Assessing change maturity 31
- Concluding thoughts 34
- Notes 35

PART II The five capabilities 37

03 Creating the context for successful change 39

- Why creating context for change is so important in driving results 39
- Why a strong context for change is important to organizations 42
- What constitutes a context for change? 45
- How do we create and share the context for change? 53
- Concluding thoughts 56
- Note 57

04 Managing the demand for change 59

Introduction 59

Wanting it to happen versus making it happen 60

Perpetual loading 64

Saying 'no' makes things happen 68

A prioritization process 70

Concluding thoughts 72

Notes 73

05 Executing single changes 75

Why organizations require a consistent approach to change 76

What options organizations have when they decide to utilize a methodology 77

What change management content should be in a methodology 84

The role of change tools in organizational change 94

Concluding thoughts 99

Notes 100

06 Adaptive leadership 101

Introduction 101

Core leadership 102

Adaptive change leadership behaviours 109

Concluding thoughts 118

Notes 119

07 Developing resilient people 121

Introduction 121

Resilient organizations need resilient people 122

What makes people resilient? 124

Identifying and developing resilience 131

Eight ways to operationalize resilience 135

Concluding thoughts 141

Notes 142

PART III How organizations learn to change 143

08 Cultures that leverage capabilities 145

- High-level understanding of organizational culture 146
- Why culture is important when building change management capabilities 150
- Organizational lifecycles and their effect on building change capabilities 152
- Characteristics of cultures that successfully build capabilities 155
- Potential mitigation strategies if the culture is unsupportive 157
- Concluding thoughts 162
- Notes 163

09 Learning and embedding capabilities effectively 165

- Making sure people in the organization have the right skills and tools 168
- Encouraging learning by doing 170
- Delivering learning ‘just-in-time’ 172
- Linking learning to application 173
- Measuring the effectiveness of learning 176
- Digital transformation 179
- Footnote on learning and adapting to change 182
- Concluding thoughts 183
- Notes 184

10 Implications for key players 185

- Implications for leaders 187
- Implications for change agents 188

Index 192