

CONTENTS

About the author x

About this book xi

Foreword xiii

Acknowledgements xv

01 Business buyers don't behave like consumers 1

Changing consumer behaviour 1

What's different at work? 3

Summary 18

Notes 19

02 What is executive engagement? 20

Defining executive engagement 20

Why do you need it? 21

Who are these executives? 22

Designing an executive engagement strategy 24

Organizing an executive engagement programme 29

Summary 38

Notes 38

03 Understanding executives 39

What do we need to know? 39

Basic profile information 41

Buyer personas 46

Psychological profiling 60

Technology that can help 62

A note on privacy 65

Summary 66

Notes 67

04 Who should engage? 68

- The main players 68
- A note on chemistry 70
- Executive to executive 71
- Briefing and debriefing 72
- Personal and executive assistants 73
- Key account managers and sales people 73
- Subject matter experts 78
- Delivery and customer experience teams 82
- Marketing 83
- Corporate social responsibility teams 84
- Partners 84
- Influencers 85
- Summary 87

05 Having something to say 89

- What do executives want to talk about? 90
- Personalize! 92
- The right format 94
- The value you are adding 97
- Thought leadership 98
- Value propositions 108
- Examples and case studies 115
- Summary 119
- Notes 120

06 Knowing when to engage 121

- Engagement along the buying process 121
- Epiphany 125
- Awareness 130
- Interest 130
- Confidence 131
- Loyalty 133
- Trust 142
- Summary 145
- Notes 146

07 Engaging with peer networks 147

How are peer networks changing? 147

Collaborating through research 148

Running engaging events 158

Building new communities 164

A note on alumni 168

Summary 169

Notes 170

08 Engaging small groups 171

What activities do executives prefer to engage in? 171

Seminars and webinars 173

Innovation workshops 176

Advisory councils 183

Hospitality 190

Summary 191

Notes 192

09 Engaging individuals 193

Relationships and how to survive them 193

Engaging one-on-one 201

Engaging influencers 207

Tools that support individual engagement 209

Summary 211

Notes 212

10 Measuring success 213

Why engage? 213

Measuring outcomes 214

Strengthening relationships 216

Building reputation 221

Building a measurement dashboard 230

Summary 233

Notes 234

Index 235