

Contents

Acknowledgements xii

Introduction 1

1 Classic innovation theory and current leading-edge thinking 11

Defining innovation and the innovative organization 15

Building a culture of innovation 20

Summary 23

2 The disruptors disrupted. What next for adland? 27

The attack of the consultancies, and future agency roles 29

Brand purpose or ‘toxic pomposity’? 32

The rebels 36

Influencer marketing and false authenticity 39

Charlatans and rogue managers 43

Summary 45

3 The future of retail and the future home 49

The consumer and the environment 53

Ethics and innovation 54

Environmentalism meets fashion and luxury 56

Crocodiles and supply chains 59

Luxury brands and the ultimate luxury store 61

The future home and the Internet of Things 63

The kitchen of the future 68

Entertainment 69

Summary 71

- 4 How the food and drink industries leverage catalytic trends 73
 - Radical restaurants and truth machines 74
 - From local foraging to global traditions 78
 - We have to change what we eat and drink 80
 - From impossible foods to experience dining to snackification 85
 - From Public Enemy No 1 to customized sustainable design 86
 - Smart packaging and holistic thinking 91
 - Summary 92

- 5 The wellness economy meets the lifestyle industry 95
 - Health is everything 98
 - Trust and transparency 100
 - Algorithmic interpretations and personal control 102
 - Product and service innovation – back to the future 106
 - Mental health, and combating anxiety 108
 - Play and community 110
 - Communicating a health message 111
 - The D-word 112
 - Summary 114

- 6 Smart cities, the IoT and connected living 115
 - Urban tensions 118
 - Empathy and inclusion 122
 - The rise and rise of secondary cities 123
 - Security 125
 - Environmentalism: ‘tell the truth, and act like it’s real’ 129
 - Megacities and smart cities 130
 - Mobility ‘connected, shared and self-driving’ 133
 - Summary 134

- 7 Intelligent and sustainable: a new era of tourism and mobility 137
 - Homogenized travel and ‘social media similarity’ 138
 - Cruise ships and Tesla ships 140
 - Hotels: cultural hubs, smart rooms and community integration 142
 - Business not as usual, and sci-fi futures 144
 - Airlines, airships, air taxis and spacecraft 145
 - The life, death and rebirth of the automobile 149
 - Autonomous vehicles, connected cars, electrification and shared mobility 152
 - Sharing, insurance and the ‘Third Transportation Revolution’ 156
 - Trains and ‘the fifth mode of transport’ 158
 - Summary 159
- 8 The transformation of entertainment by technology, experiences and personalization 161
 - Play is a space where the past and future have no meaning 163
 - Gaming: next-generation consoles, cloud-based gaming wars, eSports and ethics 164
 - Sport: AR and VR full immersion experiences and cause-based campaigning 168
 - Television: the rise of the disruptors, mobile-based viewing and Smart TV 170
 - Radio: community engagement, audience appeal and social media 173
 - Film and video: how online viewing has transformed content consumption 175
 - Music: the transformation of immersive, engaging and rewarding experiences 177
 - Festivals: the rise and rise of tech powered niche audience events 179
 - Summary 182

- 9 The future of work: goodbye to certainty and stability.
Hello to Industry 4.0 183
Defining the issue... 184
Meanwhile: artificial intelligence, language interfaces and augmented reality 187
Diversity, inclusion and cognitive diversity 189
Rateocracy: from 'owning' to 'attraction' 190
Generational issues: challenges and opportunities 192
Education and lifelong learning 193
Gender-specific 194
Emotional and empowering – the future workspace 195
Forget coworking, think proworking 198
Cultural planning and social action 199
Cultural clustering and the battle for authenticity 200
Brand purpose and a new social consciousness 201
The future work manifesto: 'empowerment, flexibility,
collaboration, empathy and autonomy' 204
Summary 206
- 10 Fintech and insurtech, and the battle of choice vs privacy 209
Capitalism under attack, and the need for greater accountability 212
The sun rises in the East... 215
Hypertargeting meets privacy... and Libra 216
Gambling and open banking 219
Bitcoin, smart contracts, neobanks and... Extinction
Rebellion 220
Big brands fight back, and criminal networks see an opportunity 223
Insurtech and 'Policy 2.0' 224
Sharing, collaborating, pricing and not-for-profit 227
Summary 229

CONTENTS

Summary: The Influencers and Revolutionaries
Innovation Manifesto 233

References and further reading 241
Index 263