

Contents

Acknowledgements ix

- 1 Introduction: between the shallows and the deep blue sea 1
 - Scenes from our innovation crisis 1
 - An age of innovation talk 4
 - Innovation ain't what it used to be 6
 - Scenes from a shallow company 8
 - Innovation lost 10
 - What is deep innovation? 13
 - The four extremes of innovation cultures 15
 - The innovation industry 18
 - Innovation commodified 20
 - The haves and have-nots of the imagination economy 21
 - Our cognitive surplus 22
 - Innovation rich 24
 - Big idea famine 26
 - The research behind this book, or the companies fighting famine and fatigue 29
 - The rest of this book 31
- 2 Of yawns and broken windows: how ideas die in the modern corporation 33
 - Human ingenuity in an age of AI 33
 - The new productivity 34
 - On inhospitable contexts 36
 - The lonesome death of most ideas 38
 - When you're the Sphinx 40
 - Broken windows theory 42

- How to kill innovation culture with an idea competition,
part 1 43
- The whimper 46
- How to kill innovation culture with an idea competition,
part 2 47
- Shallow yawns and deep breaths 48
- Our own worst enemies 50
- The beam in our eyes 52
- The curse of expertise 54
- Beyond innovation theatre 56

- 3 Respect, reciprocity, responsibility and reflection: crafting innovation cultures from the ground up 59
 - Why innovation requires thinking like a farmer 59
 - PS I love you 61
 - Psychological safety, innovation and organizational culture 62
 - Some hallmarks of an innovation culture 64
 - The four Rs of deep innovation cultures 65
 - Respect: the basic building block of innovation 66
 - Reciprocity: why you need both give and take 74
 - Responsibility: deep innovation cultures are both vocal and vulnerable 81
 - Reflection 87
 - Crafting innovation cultures 94

- 4 The imagination premium: pushing beyond fatigue, thinking beyond boundaries 95
 - Building a better cornucopia 95
 - Imagination: tricky, troubling and terrific 97
 - Good engineers/bad engineers 98
 - Business in the imagination age 100
 - The imagination premium 102
 - Thinking, fast and slow and deep 104

- Experimenting beyond logic 105
- On the comfort zone 107
- Play like there's no-one watching 108
- The big I 110
- Mining the imagination 111
- Curiosity: it never killed the cat 114
- A curiosity crisis (and escaping it) 116
- Getting serious about imagination 118

- 5 Innovative by design: diversity and the trouble with monocultures 121
 - Macho madness 121
 - Innovation and privilege 123
 - Haves and have-nots redux 125
 - The innovations of privilege 126
 - Moving beyond male, pale and stale 128
 - The one thing we know about innovative teams 130
 - On the fine art of respectful disharmony 132
 - Rise of the culture brokers 133
 - A band of brokers 135
 - An aside on compassion 136
 - From diversity to impact 138
 - Making innovation meaningful 139

- 6 Making innovation resilient: meaning, purpose, ambition, courage 141
 - When innovation becomes bullshit 141
 - Draped in innovation talk 142
 - Bringing meaning back in 145
 - Meaning, purpose, leadership 146
 - Innovation cultures thrive on meaning 148
 - Just enough stress 149
 - Innovation ambition 151
 - The safety of the shallows 153

Daring and caring	154
The courage to allow	155
The courage to say 'no'	158
Innovation is a sometime thing	159
The courage to govern	161
The fifth R: resilience	163
7 Time, velocity, slack: working at the speed of innovation	167
Working on innovation time	167
Between comfort and panic	168
Agile spurts	171
The importance of moments	173
Long slogs	176
Power pauses: why we need time off from innovation	178
Designing for slack	181
Shifting rhythms and the rough patches	183
Human, all too human rhythms	184
The Kessel run: weird times in innovation	185
8 Pulling it all together: from 'innovation' to innovation	189
On innovation pornography	189
When we skip the messy bits	190
Pygmalion and the Golem in innovation	191
After 'innovation': the return of the farmer	193
The kit and caboodle, aka the whole shebang	194
Why we need innovation critique	196
Notes	199
Index	209