

Contents

List of figures	xv
List of boxes	xvi
Journal research cases	xviii
Acknowledgements	xx
Walkthrough of textbook features	xxiv
Preface to the second edition	xxi
The purpose of the book	xxi
The approach of the book	xxi
The organisation of the chapters	xxii
The organisation of the book	xxii
PART 1 INTRODUCTION	1
Chapter 1	3
The managing change conundrums	3
Introduction	3
The managing change conundrums	3
Summary	11
Key readings	12
Chapter 2	13
Organisational change classifications	13
Learning outcomes	13
Introduction	13
Managerial approaches	14
– Classifying organisational change	14
– The change classifications framework	16
Critical perspective	20
– The change classifications framework as a point of view	21
– Complexity theories and organisational change	21
– Postmodernism and organisational change	22
Concluding commentary	24
Case study: applying theory to practice	25
– Greenshires County Council in shock restructuring	25
Discussion questions	26
Key readings	26
Chapter 3	27
History and organisational change	27
Learning outcomes	27
Introduction	27
Managerial approaches	28
– Popular management writing	28
Critical perspective	33
– Historiography and organisational change	33

	Concluding commentary	37
	Case study: applying theory to practice	37
	– Reflecting upon the NHS Next Stage Review	37
	Discussion questions	39
	Key readings	39
Chapter 4	The role of paradigms and perspectives	41
	Learning outcomes	41
	Introduction	41
	Managerial approaches	42
	– Paradigms of/for change	43
	– Perspectives on organisational change	47
	Critical perspective	49
	– What constitutes a critical perspective?	49
	– Why adopt a critical perspective towards managing change?	51
	Concluding commentary	53
	Case study: applying theory to practice	53
	– Identifying perspectives and paradigms in four journal papers	53
	Discussion questions	55
	Key readings	55
	PART 2 EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL CHANGE CONTEXTS	57
Chapter 5	Why organisations change	59
	Learning outcomes	59
	Introduction	59
	Managerial approaches	60
	– Triggers and drivers of organisational change	60
	– Contextualist approaches to organisational change	62
	Critical perspective	65
	– Life-cycles, teleology, dialectics and evolution	65
	– New institutional theory	67
	– Management fads and fashions	69
	Concluding commentary	70
	Case study: applying theory to practice	70
	– Changing times at Factory Bank	70
	Discussion questions	72
	Key readings	72
Chapter 6	Organisational design and change	73
	Learning outcomes	73
	Introduction	73
	Managerial approaches	74

	– The challenges of organisational design	74
	– Theorising organisational design	78
	– Changing forms, processes and boundaries	81
	Critical perspective	84
	– Dualities in forms of organising	84
	Concluding commentary	85
	Case study: applying theory to practice	86
	– New organisational forms at the University of Midchester	86
	Discussion questions	87
	Key readings	88
Chapter 7	Strategic-level change	89
	Learning outcomes	89
	Introduction	89
	Managerial approaches	90
	– Strategy and strategic change	90
	– Planned approaches to change	92
	– Managing mergers and acquisitions	94
	Critical perspective	95
	– Emergent approaches to change	95
	– Questioning strategic change	97
	– Critically reviewing mergers and acquisitions	99
	Concluding commentary	100
	Case study: applying theory to practice	100
	– Strategic change at Higson's Plastic Parts	100
	Discussion questions	102
	Key readings	103
Chapter 8	Group- and team-level change	104
	Learning outcomes	104
	Introduction	104
	Managerial approaches	105
	– Groups and teams in organisations	105
	– Group and team involvement in organisational change	107
	– Socio-technical systems approaches	109
	Critical perspective	110
	– Critique of groups and teams research	110
	– The tyranny of teamworking ideology	112
	Concluding commentary	113
	Case study: applying theory to practice	114
	– All change in the technical support team	114
	Discussion questions	115
	Key readings	116

Chapter 9	Individual-level change	117
	Learning outcomes	117
	Introduction	117
	Managerial approaches	118
	– Understanding individuals	118
	– Explaining processes of individual change	120
	– Managing individuals through organisational change	123
	Critical perspective	125
	– Covert dimensions of organisational change	125
	– Questioning the role of pain in organisational change	126
	Concluding commentary	128
	Case study: applying theory to practice	129
	– Experiencing change in Greenshires County Council	129
	Discussion questions	130
	Key readings	130
PART 3	MANAGING CHANGE	133
Chapter 10	The leadership of change	135
	Learning outcomes	135
	Introduction	135
	Managerial approaches	136
	– Leaders, leadership and management	136
	– Studying leaders and leadership	136
	– Transformational and visionary leadership	138
	– Leading change	140
	Critical perspective	142
	– Critique of Kotter and transformational leadership	143
	– Leadership as dangerous, dysfunctional and devious	145
	Concluding commentary	146
	Case study: applying theory to practice	147
	– Leading change in Crusty Bakeries	147
	Discussion questions	149
	Key readings	149
Chapter 11	Change communications	150
	Learning outcomes	150
	Introduction	150
	Managerial approaches	151
	– Communicating change	151
	– Communicating change barriers and blockages	154
	Critical perspective	156
	– Change communications as rhetoric	157
	– Change communications as discourse	158
	Concluding commentary	159

	Case study: applying theory to practice	160
	– Communications about a new job evaluation scheme	160
	Discussion questions	162
	Key readings	162
Chapter 12	Resistance to change	163
	Learning outcomes	163
	Introduction	163
	Managerial approaches	164
	– The what, why and how of resisting change	164
	– Managing resistance to change	165
	Critical perspective	168
	– Change and stability	168
	– Change-agent-centric thinking	170
	– Rethinking resistance and resistance terminology	171
	Concluding commentary	172
	Case study: applying theory to practice	173
	– Resistance to change in Happy Homes call centre	173
	Discussion questions	174
	Key readings	175
Chapter 13	Cultural change	176
	Learning outcomes	176
	Introduction	176
	Managerial approaches	177
	– National cultural contexts	177
	– Managerial interest in organisational culture	178
	– Defining and classifying organisational cultures	178
	– Managing cultural change	181
	Critical perspective	184
	– The manageability of cultural change?	185
	– Culture as an impediment to organisational change	187
	Concluding commentary	188
	Case study: applying theory to practice	189
	– Midlands Building Society	189
	Discussion questions	190
	Key readings	191
Chapter 14	Organisational learning	192
	Learning outcomes	192
	Introduction	192
	Managerial approaches	193
	– Approaches to learning	193
	– Organisational learning	194
	– The learning organisation	198

Critical perspective	199
– Critically reviewing organisational learning and learning organisations	199
– Organisational forgetting	201
Concluding commentary	202
Case study: applying theory to practice	202
– Manufacturing videotapes: fast-forward to the future	202
Discussion questions	204
Key readings	204
PART 4 DEVELOPMENTS IN MANAGING CHANGE	207
Chapter 15 Power, politics and organisational change	209
Learning outcomes	209
Introduction	209
Managerial approaches	210
– Theorising power and politics	210
– Power, politics and organisational change	212
Critical perspective	216
– Power: a radical view	216
– Power and strategic change	219
Concluding commentary	220
Case study: applying theory to practice	221
– Funding crisis at Musicians in the Community	221
Discussion questions	222
Key readings	223
Chapter 16 Ethics and managing change	224
Learning outcomes	224
Introduction	224
Managerial approaches	225
– Introducing business ethics	225
– Managing change ethical challenges	228
– Psychological contracts and organisational change	229
– Ethical codes	230
Critical perspective	231
– Against business ethics	231
– Ethics and globalisation	232
– Towards managing change ethically	233
Concluding commentary	235
Case study: applying theory to practice	236
– Financial Futures, Oakley's Plastic Mouldings, Greenshires Loans and Savings, and Beautiful Bespoke Jewellery	236
Discussion questions	237
Key readings	237

Chapter 17	Change agents and agency	238
	Learning outcomes	238
	Introduction	238
	Managerial approaches	239
	– Change agents and agency	239
	– Managing change tools and techniques	242
	– Managing change as managing projects	243
	Critical perspective	245
	– Critically questioning change agents and agency	245
	– Critique of managing projects as managing change	247
	Concluding commentary	249
	Case study: applying theory to practice	249
	– The 23rd Annual Power Tools Manufacturing Conference	249
	Discussion questions	251
	Key readings	251
Chapter 18	HR and managing change	252
	Learning outcomes	252
	Introduction	252
	Managerial approaches	253
	– HR involvement in managing change	253
	– Managing diversity changes	257
	Critical perspective	258
	– Critically questioning HR involvement in managing change	258
	– The rhetoric of managing diversity	260
	Concluding commentary	261
	Case study: applying theory to practice	262
	– Reflecting upon HR change agency roles	262
	Discussion questions	264
	Key readings	264
Chapter 19	Technological change	265
	Learning outcomes	265
	Introduction	265
	Managerial approaches	266
	– The meaning of technology	266
	– Studying technological change	267
	– The contribution of innovation theories	269
	Critical perspective	272
	– Deterministic perspectives	272
	– Emergent perspectives	273
	– Labour process perspectives	274
	Concluding commentary	274
	Case study: applying theory to practice	275
	– Technological change at Perfect Properties	275

Discussion questions	276
Key readings	277
PART 5 CONCLUSIONS	279
Chapter 20 Evaluating managing change	281
Introduction	281
The temporal mysteries of managing change	282
Evaluating outcomes of managing change	284
– In search of the 70% failure rate	284
– Explaining organisational change failure	286
– Potential pitfalls of evaluating organisational change outcomes	288
Evaluating the study of managing change	291
– What are the strengths of how managing change is studied?	292
– What are the weaknesses of how managing change is studied?	293
– What are the opportunities for developing the study of managing change?	294
– What are the threats to the continued study of managing change?	294
Appendix – The organisational change field guide	297
1 Action learning	298
2 Appreciative inquiry	299
3 Balanced scorecard	300
4 Benchmarking	301
5 Business process reengineering	302
6 Coaching	303
7 Customer relationship management	305
8 Downsizing	306
9 Employee empowerment	307
10 High-performance work systems	308
11 Investors in People	309
12 Kaizen	310
13 Knowledge management	311
14 Lean Six Sigma	312
15 Learning organisation	313
16 Organisational development	315
17 Outsourcing	316
18 Strategic alliances	317
19 Supply chain management	318
20 Total quality management	319
References	321
Index	355