

Contents

	List of figures and tables	ix
	Contributor biographies	xi
	Acknowledgements	xii
	CIPD qualifications map	xiii
	Walkthrough of textbook features and online resources	xiv
Chapter 1	Setting the Scene: HRM and Performance	1
	Introduction	1
	HRM and performance: key theories	2
	A model of the HR causal chain	6
	The AMO theory of performance	10
	The role of line managers	13
	The psychological contract	14
	Employee attitudes	16
	Employee behaviours	19
	Individual and organisational performance	20
	Conclusion	23
Chapter 2	Strategic Performance Management	25
	Introduction	25
	What is performance management?	26
	Developments of performance management in the UK	27
	Developing a strategic approach to performance management	29
	The balanced scorecard	34
	Contextual factors	38
	Performance management as a strategic process	40
	Formal or informal process	43
	The benefits of a strategic approach to performance management	43
	The role of the HR function	44
	Conclusion	47
Chapter 3	Motivation at Work	49
	Introduction	49
	What is motivation?	50
	Content theories of motivation	55
	Process theories of motivation	62
	Does money motivate?	69
	Conclusion	71

Chapter 4	The Role of Line Managers in Managing Performance	73
	Introduction	73
	Increased HRM responsibility to the line	74
	The line manager's critical role in managing and leading people	76
	Line managers' involvement in performance management	79
	Difficulties with line management involvement in performance management	81
	Supporting line managers in providing effective performance management	89
	Conclusion	93
Chapter 5	Defining and Measuring Individual Work Performance	95
	Introduction	95
	Defining work performance	96
	Key criteria for performance measures	99
	Approaches to measuring performance	101
	The output- or outcome-based approach	101
	Behavioural approaches	105
	The ethics of performance measurement	114
	Conclusion	116
Chapter 6	Performance Appraisal and Feedback	119
	Introduction	119
	What is performance appraisal?	120
	Key trends	121
	The benefits of performance appraisal	122
	Who does the appraising?	124
	Problems with performance appraisals	132
	Improving the effectiveness of performance appraisal	137
	Conclusion	138
Chapter 7	Integrating Learning and Performance	141
	Introduction	141
	Defining training, learning, development (TLD) and competences	142
	TLD and the organisation	144
	Knowledge management and organisational learning	145
	Analysing training needs, training delivery and training evaluation	148
	Designing training: job analysis and how people learn	149
	Methods and approaches in delivering TLD	151
	Transfer from the place of learning to work practices	159
	The evaluation of TLD	159
	Talent management and learning	162

The design and implementation of a performance management process	163
Conclusion	165
Chapter 8 Performance-related Rewards	167
Introduction	167
What is performance-related reward?	168
The use of performance-related rewards	169
Motives for introducing performance-related reward	171
Arguments against performance-based reward	173
Individualised performance-related pay	174
Other forms of reward	179
Team-based rewards	182
Organisation-based rewards	185
Other forms of recognition	187
Conclusion	188
Chapter 9 Managing Under-Performance	191
Introduction	191
Conceptualising under-performance	192
The scope of under-performance	193
Explaining under-performance as an 'individual worker problem'	194
Conceptualising under-performance as a 'structural labour problem'	198
Managing under-performance	201
Informal techniques for managing under-performance	203
Formal techniques for managing under-performance	206
Managing under-performance using capability procedures	206
Managing under-performance using disciplinary procedures	208
Summary of managing under-performance	209
Conclusion	211
Chapter 10 Absence Management	213
Introduction	213
The context for wellness at work	214
Levels and costs of absence	215
The causes of absence	216
Approaches to the management of absence	222
Presenteeism: the impact of absence management strategies?	233
Conclusion	235
Chapter 11 International Performance Management	239
Introduction	239
Global trends	240

National culture	242
Expatriate performance management	251
The context of expatriate performance management	252
Expatriate performance appraisal	256
MNCs' practice of expatriate performance management	259
Convergence or divergence of performance management	259
Conclusion	260
Chapter 12 Developing Performance Management	263
Introduction	263
How effective is performance management?	264
Challenges to effective performance management	265
Recommendations for improving the effectiveness of performance management	266
Case studies	272
References	277
Index	323