

CONTENTS

List of contributors	viii
About the author	ix
Foreword by Kevin Knight	x
Foreword by Norman Marks	xii
Acknowledgements	xiv
List of abbreviations	xv

Introduction 1

01 Background to risk maturity models 7

Introduction	7
Concepts and definitions	8
Origins of capability maturity models	16
Misunderstanding 1: all models are born equal	25
Misunderstanding 2: global best practice	26
Misunderstanding 3: progression without regression or stasis	27
Misunderstanding 4: just a tool	29
Summary	30

02 The case for a risk maturity model 31

Introduction	31
Benefits delivered by ERM and a risk maturity model	34
Assessing risk management effectiveness	47
Alternatives complement using a risk maturity model	50
Limitations to using a risk maturity model	53
Summary	56

03 Comparing risk maturity models against each other 58

Introduction	58
Dealing with biases when comparing risk maturity models	59
Approach to comparing risk maturity models	62
Tiering the models	63

Directory comparing 77 maturity models	66
Results and analysis of the directory of risk maturity models	133
Summary	136

04 Tailoring and benchmarking a risk maturity model 138

Introduction	138
Tailoring and benchmarking	140
Tailoring by ERM standards and voluntary codes	143
Tailoring by corporate governance codes and guidance	156
Tailoring by sectors	162
Tailoring by organization operating model	167
Tailoring by risk function operating model	175
Tailoring by economic value chain	182
Tailoring by key performance indicators	184
Tailoring by context and design-related methods	185
Summary	185

05 Designing a tailored risk maturity model 187

Introduction	187
Components of a maturity model	188
Domains as a component of a maturity model	189
Capabilities as a component of a maturity model	189
Scales as a component of a maturity model	197
Levels as a component of a maturity model	203
Alternative design formats	207
Enhancements to the design of a maturity model	228
Optimizing objectivity, tailoring and reporting	236
Summary	251

06 How risk, audit and board functions benefit from risk maturity 252

Introduction	252
The risk function and risk maturity	253
The internal audit function and risk maturity	257
The board and CxO function and risk maturity	258
Benefits for risk, IA and board functions	260
Summary	262

07 Summary of risk maturity models from practitioner perspectives 264

Practitioner Megan learns to leverage resources to move up the curve 264

Practitioner Chris learns to keep it simple moving up the curve 265

Practitioner Asha learns advanced external benchmarking 266

Practitioner Alan learns advanced self-benchmarking 267

Summary and future moving up the risk maturity curve 268

Glossary 270

References 275

Further reading 283

Index 293